How it works? Ant version numbering system is known to be complicated, and it does not provide the flexibility in changing it as we want. To solve this problem, we have used the following way: 1. We have used a build-in version strings (1.0.0, 1.1.0 etc) and a timestamp. 2. We also used the following convention: whenever our target version is equal to '0.0.0', we will add 1 to all the numbers (for example, a 1.0.0 will become 1.1.0) 3. In case our target version is lower than '0.0.0' and higher than '0.1.0', it will increment the previous version by a decimal value, and form a new version: - For instance, 1.0.0 will become 1.0.1 - 1.1.0 will become 1.1.0 The latter will be seen as a bugfix.
